ADV. BHAVI KAPUR

COUNCIL MEMBER, CHANDIGARH COUNCIL
WICCI

An advocate by profession and a feminist by nature, Bhavi Kapur ascribes herself the role of being a feminist in the words of Gloria Steinmen as she pronounced the adage, "A feminist is anyone who recognizes the equality and full humanity of women and men".

Having born in a world which even in what they refer to as the "modern times" is often seen to invidiously determine or dictate the range of a woman's flight, she is an intrepid soul defining her own parameters of growth and success.

Her tryst with the cause of equality and human rights include her internship at the European Human Rights Court and the European Council in the field of Human Rights, her contributions as an active consulting counsel at her alma mater's free Legal Aid Cell and her work with various NGOs including the SAathi NGO that worked in the field of ensuring access to elementary education, to children from economically weaker sections.

A staunch proponent of equality, she believes that for the society to grow, women must be allowed to soar in the sky, and for that to be a reality women must have access to safe and encouraging environment at educational institutions and workplaces. Some of her greatest learning experiences have been her work as a researcher in the plea for death penalty in the Kathua Rape case. As a lawyer she has not only dealt with various sexual harassment cases but has also encouraged many women to voice the discomfort they endure at their workplaces or educational institutions. As a woman and most importantly as a human, she lives by the words of Eleanor Roosevelt as she said, " No one can make you feel inferior without your own consent" and so not only does she invariably demand respect and equality, but also never settles for anything less.

MS. SAVLEEN KAUR

Savleen is a community minded person, who believes in doing good for the society. One of the main reasons why she is studying law is that she wants to uplift women who have always been taught to live as shadows of their male counterparts.

Savleen has written a Research Paper on “Domestic Violence in India”, where she critically analysed the plight of women in India and how the current laws are incompetent in dealing with and curbing domestic violence. This paper was presented at the National Conference on Crimes against Women organised by Panjab University in collaboration with the National Commission for Women (NCW).

Women are one of the strongest creatures to walk the earth, and yet they are brought down, silenced and made to bear injustice on a daily basis. As someone who has been seeing women being reduced to mere objects all around the world, she believes that she can be someone who can render her help to the communities that are already involved in the task of women empowerment.

Women, including herself, are much more capable than they are thought to be.

Women are doing great things in today's time and yet they are not given the same credit as one would give a man for doing the same thing. This, and many more things are the very reasons why Savleen wants to be a part of your organisation, so that she, along with other like minded persons, is able to get a step closer to building the society she wants to live in. A society where every human, be it a man or a woman, is seen as equal and they are able to live up to their true potential

ADV. JANYA

Janya is an energetic young law graduate who has chosen to be a lawyer to make a difference. Legal knowledge which she has gained has not only empowered her but also made her realise its transformative power. It opens endless possibilities. Though Aristotle said “The law is reason, free from passion”, she believes one has to be passionately driven to be able to do justice to its far-reaching impact on individuals and society. As a young advocate she reposes complete faith in the judiciary to reinforce the rights of those women on the margins or innocent victims of deep rooted and cynical patriarchal crimes, for whom law must be on the right side.

As an initiative from her own side and commitment for helping marginalised women she has volunteered to coordinate with the Vigilance Department of the Panchkula Police Commissionerate. She has regularly visited and put in her hours, as and when requested by the Vigilance Cell to appraise and counsel the women regarding their legal rights. In cases where the victims cannot afford legal help at the very initial stages, she guides them regarding the legal procedures to be adopted.

As a legal associate with the Chamber of a Designated Senior Advocate, at the High Court of Punjab and Haryana, she has had ample opportunity to follow her convictions by representing victims in the Court of Law, in cases pertaining to crimes against women. In a country like ours where gender-just laws often exist only on paper it has given her immense satisfaction to be a catalyst in the delivery of justice.

It's a slow process of unlearning the generational biases most of us are brought up with and inculcating a conscious effort at appreciating individuality and independence regardless of gender or societal expectations.

MS. ARVEEN SEKHON

WICCI

The greatest gift in the world is giving someone a hand to pull them out of their misery or any other gesture that eventually is done for the betterment of an individual. Arveen believes that the entire concept of humanity has stemmed from the idea that we are born to serve each other and the ones that are vulnerable to the evil side of the society.

She has been always compassionate towards the “weaker sections” which is a term that doesn't do justice as it tags them as weak which is against the principle of equality and she prefers to call them as the vulnerable sections.

During her graduation she has interned at the State Human Rights Commission, Punjab and Human Rights Law Network, Chandigarh. The idea of humanity as a religion is one which she holds close to her heart.

In her college years, a collective from her batch operated an evening school for the children of the labourers working in her campus. These evening classes were dear to her and held great value when young children were treated with such care which gave them hope for the future and helped them in distinguishing the right from the wrong by engrossing ethics and morality in their curricula.

In the last two years of practicing as an Advocate at the Punjab and Haryana High Court, she came across multiple cases which were crimes against women which have gravely impacted her to the extent that women are still considered “weaker”. She is liberal, independent and outspoken. She believes in the constant evolving dynamic society which is liberal and accepting of all without any bias.
